Virtualization allows to reduce the cost of maintenance and software development in such a large number of computers. The computers natively run a Linux operating system, CentOS, lightweight and validated, and from there, the user can connect to a Windows 7 operating system running in our Data Processing Center.