How can I access the software?

Access to the software is limited in all cases and identification is always required to access. The necessary steps to access a certain product are:
1. Be a user of the University of Valencia
2. Acquire a license to use the software you need to use
3. Access the software server to get the installation programs
4. Install the corresponding software on the work computer
5. In some cases, configure the program with the data of the particular license of the Universitat de València
